

“Surprise” exclaimed Edith as she walked into the funeral parlour
“I’m still alive and I know one of you here tried to have me killed”

"Last week I received a series of notes warning that I was in serious danger and not to eat or drink anything given to me"

"Three of you here prepared food for me and you all believed that I had died.

My husband, my daughter and my best friend"

"Since faking my own death I have received more notes which I believe will identify which one of you wanted me gone"

Honey...you know I'd never hurt you. I made that spaghetti bolognese fresh on Tuesday morning. I cooked it and left it to cool in the kitchen. I used beef mince, tomatoes, red wine, peppers, onions and the very finest of Italian herbs. I can't believe you didn't eat it

Well this is all very dramatic Edith!
You know I wouldn't ever want to harm you.
I made you that special lasagne on Monday night. I dropped it round to your house on Tuesday afternoon and left it in your fridge. I used beef mince, tomatoes, peppers, onions, mushrooms, and the finest of Italian herbs.

You are so embarrassing!
That's the last time I ever cook for you as well. I made that chilli for you on Tuesday night with beef mince,
tomatoes, kidney beans,peppers and red onion. I left it on the hob for you to heat up whenever you were ready

Slow it down there Miss Marple. This proves nothing, anyone could have added poison to the food after I left it.

What a waste!

Now can we just get to the buffet, no need for any more food to be wasted

Beware. Someone has it in for you. Do not eat anything you have not prepared yourself. We will let you know more when we know

Be very careful, they are ready to make their move

Pc Plume is waiting for you to tell him who the wannabe killer is. He's wearing uniform so he needs a little help from you detectives to work it out.

Well done, it was of course Betty the false friend. She will be taken away to the police station by PC Plume while everyone else enjoys the sumptuous buffet and free bar provided by Edith's life insurance pay out
